Appropriations Panel Wields Hatchet

House Group Trims Foreign Aid 28 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee voted today to chop $1,405,955,000 out of President Eisenhower's $5 billion foreign aid money request for this year.

The 28 per cent slash, applying mostly to proposed arms aid $300 million deeper than previously voted House cuts which Eisenhower said would "seriously impair" free world security. Those cuts were made by the House in an authorization bill setting a ceiling on the program. The new measure, subject to House and Senate changes, would provide the actual money.

The committee approval of a $3,665,920,000 bill marked a sharp setback to strenuous administration efforts to win congressional passage of nearly the full amount Eisenhower sought.

The committee voted also a "thorough investigation" of foreign aid, saying there has been vagueness and a lack of information about the program.

THE HOUSE GROUP said the U. S. overseas assistance plans are frequently put together "with little or no consideration of the needs of the country concerned."

It said the new bill plus $6.8 billion in previously voted funds still unspent would allow the program to continue another two to three years at its present rate.

The committee figured Eisenhower's total appropriations proposal at $5,071,875,000, with new funds of $4,859,975,000 plus $211,900,000 in requested reappropriation of carryover funds. It voted to chop the total to $3,665,920,000 including:

1. $1,930,500,000 for military assistance abroad, $1,236,100,000 below the administration-proposed $3,166,600,000.

The House had cut the military figure $1 billion in the authorization bill but, heeding strong administration protests, the Senate voted to restore $600 million of that cut.

2. $100 million for economic development in the Middle East and Africa, the full amount Eisenhower requested, and $100 million for a special "flexible" fund without strings as to where it could be applied.

But the committee turned down a request for another $100 million for an Asian development fund. It said $90 million was still left from last year's appropriation for the same purpose.

3. $1,128,700,000 for "defense support"—economic aid to bolster defense efforts of countries getting U. S. military assistance. This was close to the administration request.

4. $130 million for "development assistance"—economic aid to less developed countries which are not getting U. S. military aid. This is $13 million below Eisenhower's proposal.

5. $146½ million for technical aid, $11 million below the administration figure.

The committee made $5½ million of the technical aid cut in the $15½ million proposed for the U. S. contribution to technical assistance conducted through United Nations agencies.

Twining Fails To Still Critics

Air Force 'Ahead' Of Reds, Is Belief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining's estimate that this country is ahead of Soviet Russia in the quality of its airpower and can stay ahead seems unlikely to still administration critics.

Twining, the Air Force chief of staff, reported to President Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa., yesterday on his eight-day visit to Russia and then told newsmen "there is no question about" superior quality of U. S. airpower.

He attached carefully worded time qualifications on his appraisal, however. He said the United States has a better Air Force "now," should be able to remain ahead in the "next few years" and that the administration's military aviation programs are satisfactory "at this time."

Twining said also that Russia might surpass the United States by 1960 if this country "does not keep moving."

"Gen. Twining's report sounds encouraging," said Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.), senior minority member of a five-man Senate subcommittee trying to judge the relative air strength of this country and the Soviets.

Suction from Jet Kills Airman, 25

CHICAGO (AP)—An Air Force maintenance man was killed yesterday at O'Hare Field when he was sucked into the air intake opening of an F86D jet fighter.

Capt. Werner F. Crys, an Air Force physician, said Cunningham probably was knocked unconscious as he was pulled into the plane and died of suffocation.

School Aid Bill Dies as House Ballots 'No'

Dems, Republicans Blame Each Other For Measure's Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans and Democrats sought to fix responsibility on each other today for House action burying a federal aid to education program under a 224-194 vote.

It was a defeat for President Eisenhower, who had strongly urged such a program to help ease a nationwide shortage of school classrooms.

Capping a day of rare confusion and reversals, the House yesterday killed off the bill which would have authorized $1.6 billion in federal grants for school construction in the next five years while denying aid to states which continue to segregate children by race.

The ensuing uproar over who was responsible promises to carry over into the fall election.

Democrats noted they produced a majority for the bill while the Republicans voted against it. Republicans said the Democrats were at fault for not supporting Eisenhower's plan to give weight to the needs of each state in dividing up the proposed grants.

THE DEMOCRATIC-sponsored measure would have allocated the money solely on the basis of school age population in each state.

Northerners blamed a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats. And Southerners blamed an anti-segregation amendment and what some of them called a threat of federal control over local school systems.

Before the House knocked the whole measure in the head, it nailed onto the bill 225-192 an amendment by Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.), a Negro, to deny school aid to states failing to "comply with decisions of the Supreme Court."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a backer of the bill, said House Republicans had "stuck a knife in the back of school aid." A few Republican votes could have saved it, he declared.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic House leader, declared responsibility for the bill's defeat "rests on the Republican party," saying:

"There were 119 Democrats who voted for passage of the bill, and 75 Republicans. And there were 105 Democrats voted against passage, and 119 Republicans. I think that speaks for itself."

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, assistant GOP House leader, said the Democrats had chosen "to ignore the warning signals." He said they voted "almost solidly against the President's position and his announced policies"—a reference to the administration formula for dividing up the grants.

"By doing this, they must accept their responsibility for defeating this legislation," Halleck asserted.

School Teacher Assaulter Held By Cincy Police

CINCINNATI (AP)—A man accused of beating and robbing a school teacher as she was at prayer in a church here last April 27 was arrested here Thursday.

Detectives identified him as Stanley Marshall, 24, and said he would be arraigned in Police Court today on nine charges of robbery, grand larceny and automobile theft.

They said Marshall admitted a series of robberies and holdups including the one of Miss Janet Kemme, 30, in the church. Only about $2.50 was obtained in the robbery. Miss Kemme was hit from behind as she was at prayer and suffered serious head and eye injuries.

Rugged Male Nudes Get Swift Kick Off Grand Old Party Program Cover

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three rugged bronze male nudes have been kicked off the cover of the official program for the Republican National Convention.

In their place a portrait of President Eisenhower will be seen by convention-goers against a background photograph of the Cow Palace and stage where the convention opens Aug. 20.

This was announced last night by Mayor George Christopher and Edmund O'Brien, executive director of the GOP Arrangements Committee, after a day in which Christopher's criticism of the photograph of sculptor Auguste Rodin's statue of the three nudes brought out:

1. That Rodin created the statue, now at the Palace of the Legion of Honor here, for a Paris museum, to illustrate a passage from Dante's "Inferno."

2. That he called it "Les Tres Hommes," part of a group entitled "Abandon Hope, All Ye Who Enter Here."

3. That the three unclothed male figures, rugged in the Rodin manner of "The Thinker" but distorted with heads bowed sideways, were meant to represent "Three Shades at the Gate of Hell."

The tentative program cover had over the three figures the word "Unity," and beside them "Peace, Progress, Prosperity." "I don't think it's a very

Kidnaped Baby Reported OK; Father Ready To Pay Ransom

Hopes Mount As Parents Get Phone Call

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—A person believed to be the kidnaper of month-old Peter Weinberger telephoned the parents' home today, saying the baby was alive and well. Morris Weinberger, the child's father, told the caller he was prepared to pay a ransom.

Weinberger said the call came at 9:40 a. m. and that he told the caller: "Am ready to meet your demand, awaiting your call."

It was not made clear just why the response was worded in such fashion, and Weinberger revealed little else about the conversation, or whether he would seek to make a private effort to get the baby back.

Police have said they could not legally pull out of the case, but that their prime concern is the safety of the baby and they would do anything possible in this connection.

Weinberger's son was taken from a carriage at the back of their fashionable home here Wednesday afternoon while the mother had stepped into the house a moment.

A NOTE WAS left, demanding $2,000 ransom.

Police baited a trap for the kidnaper yesterday with packages supposedly containing ransom money but mostly containing paper in bill size.

However, no one showed up to try to take either of two packages placed at spots in the vicinity of the Weinberger home.

Mountaineers Reach Site of Plane Crash

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—Two Colorado mountaineers, ferried to a tiny ledge above the Colorado River in a daring helicopter flight, today were to resume their hazardous probe of the shattered remains of a United Air Lines DC7.

The big airliner slammed into a desolate promontory in the Grand Canyon last Saturday, presumably after colliding in the air with a TWA Super Constellation. The disaster took 128 lives.

Due here today to aid in the job of recovering bodies of the crash victims and bringing out wreckage are eight Swiss mountain climbers flown from Zurich.

The windy ledge that holds much of the wreckage of the United airliner is less than a mile from where the Super Constellation crashed.

David Lewis and Raymond M. Batson, members of the Rocky Mountain rescue group, were dropped off on the ridge yesterday. A miscalculation during the landing might have meant a crash into the bank of the river 1,100 feet below.

Capt. Walter Spriggs of Smackover, Ark., pilot of the helicopter, said the breeze was ideal, but admitted he was wary of the wind swirling out of crevices in the canyon. "That disturbed our blood," he said.

Shooting of Mohowski By Police Here May Be Probed by Grand Jury

A grand jury investigation of the shooting of Deputy Sheriff Steve J. Mohowski, 35, of Lorain County during a gun battle with police officers here early in the morning of May 28, during which Mohowski was critically wounded, is to be, or has been demanded by Sheriff Carl R. Finegan of Lorain County, he told Sheriff Orland Hays while here Thursday.

Finegan was to contact Prosecutor John S. Bath after his visit with Sheriff Hays, but the result of his contact could not be learned Friday because Prosecutor Bath was out of the city.

Finegan did not contact Chief Vaiden Long while he was here, and so far as known, he came for the sole purpose of requesting grand jury investigation of the shooting.

Finegan was quoted as saying that some of the things he has learned do not correspond with the police version of the shooting. It was said he wants these phases of the report investigated.

If the grand jury investigates the shooting, this may be done at the session called for Monday, or may be carried over for a special session.

IN CONNECTION with Finegan's request, Chief Vaiden Long said: "We are not worrying about the results of any investigation that is made."

Chief Long also said the story as related by the three policemen, Sgt. Walter Marshall, Lang Laytard and Elmer Kelley, had been checked and rechecked. He added he is satisfied the details are correct generally, including the report that Mohowski fired the first shot after refusing to drop the gun he had pulled from his belt when the three officers appeared to investigate a man with a gun.

Mohowski is now at the home of his sister, Mrs. Stella Gostyle, in Elm Grove, W. Va.

Mohowski was released from University Hospital in Columbus last week and went with his sister, according to reports reaching here today.

Meanwhile, a charge of shooting to kill a police officer is being held in abeyance. The charge was filed soon after the shooting, which took place at the Marathon Service Station, corner of Court and North Streets, about dawn.

However, it was indicated the deputy sheriff may be brought back here for arraignment soon, depending on his condition.

Ohio Firm Given Air Force Pact

DAYTON (AP)—The Mar-Pak Corp. of Painesville has been awarded a $478,734 contract for the demilitarization of 26 Air Force B36 bombers.

Maj. Gen. David H. Baker, director of procurement and production of Air Materiel Command at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here, said the planes are in storage at Davis AFB, Ariz.

Terms call for each of the planes to be stripped of about 6,000 parts and assemblies, which will be returned to supply channels to provide spares for other aircraft.

Expansion Need Cited by Board

Two New Buildings, Additions Planned

A $645,000 bond issue to build two new elementary school buildings in Washington C. H. and additions to two of the present buildings, as well as to replace some equipment, is to be submitted to the voters at the election next November.

The "resolution of necessity" was adopted by the School Board at Thursday night's special meeting. The board also took the necessary routine action laying the groundwork for the proposal.

At the meeting, were John Keil, of the architectural firm of McLaughlin and Keil, of Lima, and John Selby of the law firm of Bricker, Marburger, Evatt and Barton, of Columbus.

The board went over its needs and a general outline of the plans for the building program with Keil. Using this information as the basis, McLaughlin and Keil are to prepare the preliminary plans for the buildings and additions and submit them to the board for further consideration later.

INCLUDED in the overall building program is the replacement of the old boilers of the heating plant for the high school. This was estimated to cost around $30,000. One of the boilers, it was noted, came from the old Central School building when it was torn down in 1913. The other has been in service about 30 years.

The $645,000 bond issue would cover the purchase of the 29.4-acre site for one proposed new 15-room elementary school building at the corner of Elm and Willard Sts. for around $30,000; construction amounting to $554,000 and $61,000 for furniture, equipment, architect's fees, attorney fees and required legal advertising. The present Eastside elementary building would be abandoned.

No provision was made for purchase of the site for the other proposed elementary school building in the area of the Belle Aire subdivision in the growing southern part of the city.

IN A NUTSHELL, the building program would provide:

New 15-room elementary school at Elm and Willard Sts.;

A new 8-room elementary school in the southern section of the city;

A 2-room addition to the Cherry Hill School;

A 2-room addition to the Rose Avenue School.

In all, the program calls for 27 new classrooms (including four kindergarten rooms and two special education rooms), but 16 (Please turn to page two)

Finegan was quoted as saying that some of the things he has learned do not correspond with the police version of the shooting. It was said he wants these phases of the report investigated.

If the grand jury investigates the shooting, this may be done at the session called for Monday, or may be carried over for a special session.

IN CONNECTION with Finegan's request, Chief Vaiden Long said: "We are not worrying about the results of any investigation that is made."

Chief Long also said the story as related by the three policemen, Sgt. Walter Marshall, Lang Laytard and Elmer Kelley, had been checked and rechecked. He added he is satisfied the details are correct general, including the report that Mohowski fired the first shot after refusing to drop the gun he had pulled from his belt when the three officers appeared to investigate a man with a gun.

Mohowski is now at the home of his sister, Mrs. Stella Gostyle, in Elm Grove, W. Va.

Mohowski was released from University Hospital in Columbus last week and went with his sister, according to reports reaching here today.

Meanwhile, a charge of shooting to kill a police officer is being filed in abeyance. The charge was held soon after the shooting, which took place at the Marathon Service Station, corner of Court and North Streets, about dawn.

However, it was indicated the deputy sheriff may be brought back here for arraignment soon, depending on his condition.

Ohio Firm Given Air Force Pact

DAYTON (AP)—The Mar-Pak Corp. of Painesville has been awarded a $478,734 contract for the demilitarization of 26 Air Force B36 bombers.

Maj. Gen. David H. Baker, director of procurement and production of Air Materiel Command at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here, said the planes are in storage at Davis AFB, Ariz.

Terms call for each of the planes to be stripped of about 6,000 parts and assemblies, which will be returned to supply channels to provide spares for other aircraft.

Expansion Need Cited by Board

Two New Buildings, Additions Planned

A $645,000 bond issue to build two new elementary school buildings in Washington C. H. and additions to two of the present buildings, as well as to replace some equipment, is to be submitted to the voters at the election next November.

The "resolution of necessity" was adopted by the School Board at Thursday night's special meeting. The board also took the necessary routine action laying the groundwork for the proposal.

At the meeting, were John Keil, of the architectural firm of McLaughlin and Keil, of Lima, and John Selby of the law firm of Bricker, Marburger, Evatt and Barton, of Columbus.

The board went over its needs and a general outline of the plans for the building program with Keil. Using this information as the basis, McLaughlin and Keil are to prepare the preliminary plans for the buildings and additions and submit them to the board for further consideration later.

INCLUDED in the overall building program is the replacement of the old boilers of the heating plant for the high school. This was estimated to cost around $30,000. One of the boilers, it was noted, came from the old Central School building when it was torn down in 1913. The other has been in service about 30 years.

The $645,000 bond issue would cover the purchase of the 29.4-acre site for one proposed new 15-room elementary school building at the corner of Elm and Willard Sts. for around $30,000; construction amounting to $554,000 and $61,000 for furniture, equipment, architect's fees, attorney fees and required legal advertising. The present Eastside elementary building would be abandoned.

No provision was made for purchase of the site for the other proposed elementary school building in the area of the Belle Aire subdivision in the growing southern part of the city.

IN A NUTSHELL, the building program would provide:

New 15-room elementary school at Elm and Willard Sts.;

A new 8-room elementary school in the southern section of the city;

A 2-room addition to the Cherry Hill School;

A 2-room addition to the Rose Avenue School.

In all, the program calls for 27 new classrooms (including four kindergarten rooms and two special education rooms), but 16 (Please turn to page two)

Officers Probing Belmont Slaying

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Belmont County sheriff's deputies today searched for clues to the brutal slaying of a 23-year-old mother of four children, found shot to death Thursday in the kitchen of her home near here.

The blood-stained body of the victim, identified as Mrs. Jean Ashtongoff, was discovered by her five-year-old son, Bryan.

Deputy Sheriff John Kubalak said Mrs. Ashtongoff apparently surprised a burglar in the kitchen. Her husband, Ralph, a Greyhound bus driver, was in Detroit at the time of the shooting, he added.

Ohio Retail Trade Increases Slightly

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Retail Annalist reports the state's retail trade in May showed a slight increase over a year ago despite declines in durable goods.

The Annalist, published by the Ohio State University Bureau of Business Research, said 13 of the 19 kinds of retail businesses for which figures were available showed increases over a year ago for an overall 1 per cent increase.

Critical Steel Items Frozen

Federal Action Taken As Strike Continues

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Moving to assure continuance of the national defense program, the government today froze certain critical steel items as the six-day steel strike rolled on.

There was no sign of an early breach in deadlocked contract negotiations.

Top federal mediators conferred separately yesterday with both sides. They flew back to Washington with the word they will study the issues and "be in touch" with the United Steelworkers and the steel industry next week.

Otherwise, they gave no indication of the Federal Mediation Service's future plans for breaking the impasse.

The government's "freeze" order came as no surprise. Officials confirmed last Tuesday that the action was planned.

Issued by the Commerce Department, the order remains in force until further notice. It had been indicated previously that the freeze would be lifted after a short time, possibly in two weeks.

NEITHER USW President David J. McDonald nor industry representatives had anything to say on resumption of negotiations after their conferences with the mediators.

Bargaining talks collapsed last Saturday, six hours before the pure steel union and the steel industry reportedly far apart on two principal issues, length of contract and immediate pay gains.

In addition to the 650,000 strikers some 50,000 employees in allied industries, chiefly railroads and trucking, have been furloughed or notified of layoffs.

The government's freeze applies only to selected steel products needed primarily for aircraft, guided missile and atomic energy Commission projects.

Lima To Get New Nursing Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service announced today it has approved a $165,203 federal grant for the Lima, Ohio, convalescent home.

The money will be spent on a new 52-bed nursing home which will cost, in all, $519,531.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

It's been many a year since anyone paid much attention to forests, or even woods, in Fayette County, but come July 10 and things are going to be different.

There won't be any big to-do about it then, but the trees will come in for some attention. Neither will there be any show for the public.

After Charles A. Fabb and Willard Perrill took over the administration of the Eyman estate, following the death of the former trustee, V. R. McCoy, they started casting practical eyes on the 250 acres of woodland, probably the biggest in the county.

They called on the state Division of Forestry for help and eventually had some of the trees cut out—both for the lumber they would provide and for the good of the woodland.

So impressed were the forestry experts with the possibilities and the practical plan being carried out by the trustees that they arranged for what they call an "in-service training demonstration" for Soil Conservation Service, farm planners, planners in training and professional foresters. Lee Cleland, Fayette County's SCS farm planner, who is helping with the arrangements, said he did not expect more than a dozen to attend the demonstration.

In general, the training will cover methods for evaluating timber as well as demonstrating management of woodlands.

Traffic Signal Bids Examined

Proposals To Go Before Council

Bids on the new traffic signal system for Washington C. H. were opened at noon, Friday, by City Manager James F. Parkinson, and are now being studied with a view to taking them up with Council Wednesday night before a contract is awarded.

One of the bids, submitted by the Snyder Electric Service, of Washington C. H., was for underground cable in two-inch conduits, and totaled $36,557. There were four different proposals in the bids submitted by the Snyder Co., Parkinson stated. This bid, it was stated, calls for Crouse Hinds equipment.

The other bid was for a monorail system, submitted by Baldwin and Sours, of Columbus, using Eagle Signal Corp. equipment, and was for equipment only, at a bid of $18,066.

It had been noted in the specifications that an additional $7,000 would be added to any such bid, for installation work, so that the Baldwin and Sours bid was equivalent to $25,066 for the finished system.

It is expected that a contract will be let for the new system at an early date after council meets. The specifications are for the most modern system obtainable.

The sum of $25,000 already has been set aside for the new traffic signal system.

DiSalle Sets Non-Partisan Hiring Policy

NAPOLEON (P)—Michael V. DiSalle, off on another junket around the state in his campaign for governor, declared last night any state employee "performing satisfactory service today will be retained regardless of party affiliation" if DiSalle wins in the November election.

DiSalle, a Democrat, launched his second tour of Ohio's 88 counties, a repeat of the tour he made in the campaign for the May 8 primaries, with a talk before Williams County Democrats in Bryan.

Later, he addressed a meeting here and made public a letter from Dr. B. K. Jones, president of the Ohio Conservation Congress expressing concern over the position of A. W. Marion, head of the State Department of Natural Resources. The letter asked DiSalle to say "who may be the next director of the department in case you are elected."

DiSalle made his non-partisan policy comment in response to Dr. Jones' query.

DiSalle, opposed in the November election by Republican State Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, said there is a "calculated move on the part of certain special interests in Ohio to take over the driver's seat in Columbus." He did not identify the special interests.

School Discipline Said 'Nightmare'

PORTLAND, Ore. (P)—An Ohio school superintendent blames a classroom discipline "nightmare" for driving many teachers out of their profession.

Martin Essex of Akron, in a speech before the National Education Assn., said that "administrators must be more vigorous in their support of classroom management. The public and the court must let our youth know that schools are institutions of learning and a place in which respect is the order of the day."

Fairfield Sheriff Suffers Stroke

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (P)—Fairfield County (Ohio) Sheriff Dudley Crider, 54, who suffered a "severe stroke" here Tuesday night, was in "fair" condition in St. Joseph General Hospital today.

Crider had been vacationing at nearby Serpent Lake Camp.

School Issue

of them would replace emergency rooms now being used.

Thus, in the last analysis, it would provide only 11 additional classrooms.

The emergency classrooms now are: 2 in Grace Church, 2 in the Sunnyside School auditorium, 1 in the Rose Avenue School basement; 3 in the high school (converted from the Industrial Arts department and 8 in the old Eastside School, which is to be abandoned.

IN LAYING out the needs for the building program, which does not include a new high school building, the board took into consideration school enrollment estimates for the next five years. This estimate, described as "very conservative," anticipated a steady increase of around 200 pupils in the elementary schools alone.

The enrollment estimates were from 1,215 last year to 1,366 next year and then in succeeding years: 1,400, 1,404, 1,436 and 1,421.

On the basis of the 30-pupil classroom for maximum state aid from the School Foundation Program, 47.36 classrooms would be needed, the board calculated.

There are now 32 regular classrooms, including 8 at Eastside, and 8 emergency classrooms, where the board's summary showed.

It was noted by the board that this $845,000 bond issue proposal for 27 new classrooms is $91,000 less than the one for 20 new classrooms that was voted down in a special election in February, 1954.

DURING ITS consideration of the program at nearly every meeting for the last year, the board kept paring down tentative plans until it felt only the actual necessities were covered. It emphasized to the architect that the new buildings and additions to the old ones should be functional and practical. Multipurpose rooms and cafeterias were not included in the final plans laid out for the architect. However, they did include partitions which could be folded, or slid, back to provide each school with a two-room auditorium.

The board's next move will be to ask Auditor Harry Alper to determine the tax rate necessary to retire the bonds over a 23-year period. The board calculated it would average around 2 mills, probably a little less.

The board has until July 18 to get its program to the auditor and then he has until July 28 to report back to the board.

The next regular meeting of the board, July 16 will not be held, because a special meeting was scheduled for Aug. 5 to certify the bond issue proposal that must be filed with the Elections Board by Aug. 8.

The Columbus law firm is to handle the legal technicalities. Before the board adjourned, it contracted for the use of the two basement rooms in the Methodist Church for $250 a month.

Victim of Cancer Not Told Everything

NEWCASTLE, England (P)—He chatted about the future as he sat by his hospital bed. But Harold Mercer knew his cancer-stricken wife Sarah would not enjoy that future.

"It's nice to see you again, love," Sarah murmured.

Harold tried to hide the tears as she patted his hand. He also hid from Sarah the fact that he faces trial for trying to kill her with 13 sleeping pills to relieve her suffering. He has pleaded innocent to attempted murder, but guilty to attempted suicide.

Prospectors' View Not Beautiful Now

CEDAR BREAKS, Utah (P)—As two uranium prospectors were standing and admiring the view in southern Utah's Cedar Breaks National Monument, their station wagon, trailer and drilling rig rolled over the rim of the jagged canyon. It came to rest some 475 feet down.

Now Vernon P. Parker and Earl Anderson are trying to figure out how to reclaim the wreckage. The Park Service says it must come out. It's against the law to leave it there.

Justice Department Asking Curbs on General Motors

WASHINGTON (P)—The Justice Department today asked the Federal District Court at Detroit to order General Motors Corp. to scale down its bus manufacturing business.

The department charged GM with monopolizing the manufacture and sale of transit and intercity buses, and with conspiring with four bus-operating companies to maintain the alleged monopoly.

Baby Kidnaper

ger, a pretty, 32-year-old brunette, sobbingly implored the kidnaper to "please, please, please call anyone. Leave a note anywhere. I shall see that you get what you want."

When word of the kidnapping first leaked out in the neighborhood, Nassau Detective Chief Snyvesant Pinnell asked newspapers and radio and TV stations not to release anything until contact could be made by the ransom deadline.

Later, he released newsmen from the ransom deadline, saying he had learned that one newspaper, which he did not name, had decided to print the story.

"We would have gotten a hell of a lot further," he said, "if there had been no interference from the press, and you can quote me on that. I appreciate your help when your help is honestly directed. We all do."

Mrs. Weinberger also attacked news coverage of the kidnapping, saying her phone had been tied up all day, presumably by calls from newsmen, so that "if anyone wanted to, he couldn't get through."

'Farewell' Note Penned by Victim

WARREN, Ohio (P)—The "farewell" note that the late Alfred (Buck) Wilson wrote to his common law wife was in the handwriting of one of Wilson's victims.

An FBI investigation made that discovery, it was reported at the Trumbull County sheriff's office. Wilson was captured and fatally wounded last Monday. He had been sought since June 22 for slaying two sisters of his wife Juanita, and a high school girl he kidnapped in his flight—Nancy Worthington.

Handwriting analysis showed it was Nancy who wrote out the unsigned note, which said, "Wanted to get you, Juanita, sorry for what I have done. Say goodbye to the kids. Hope to meet you in the other world."

Another Uprising Feared in Poznan

BERLIN (P)—A West German businessman just returned from Communist Poland's riot-torn city of Poznan said today the Reds fear a new workers' uprising.

"Armed patrols are constantly cruising through the streets of Poznan," he reported. "They're armed with machine pistols, and use motorcycles, jeeps and trucks. 'Every important building is guarded. If youths try to gather in small groups, the police immediately disperse them.'"

Atty. Gen. Brownell had announced on Wednesday he planned the action against General Motors, the nation's largest manufacturing enterprise.

The complaint said that during each year from 1932 to 1955 GM made at least 65 per cent of all new buses delivered in the United States and in 1955 accounted for about 85 per cent of all such sales.

The government asked that GM be enjoined by court order from selling more than 50 per cent of the annual bus requirements of the four bus-operating companies.

The operating firms, named in the suit as co-conspirators but not as defendants, are Hertz Corp., Greyhound Corp., National City Lines, Inc. and Public Service Coordinated Transport Co.

Citing GM's 55 million dollar bus sales last year, the Justice Department said that between 1925 and 1955, more than 20 manufacturers have withdrawn from the bus-production field, and no new company had entered that field since 1946.

GM was charged with (1) requiring other manufacturers to discontinue or curtail bus manufacture, (2) having a GM officer and director serve as board chairman of a principal competitor, (3) refusing to sell buses to competitors of favorite customers, (4) quoting preferential prices, (5) making loans to bus-operating companies and (6) using its financial subsidiary, Yellow Manufacturing Acceptance Corp., to extend preferential financing which competitors could not meet.

The suit also charged GM had induced officials of municipally owned transit companies to issue restrictive bus specifications which excluded other manufacturers from bidding, and had refused to sell various bus parts, including diesel engines, to competitors.

Brother Admits Killing Norwalk Tree Trimmer, 23

SANDUSKY, Ohio (P)—The mystery of who killed Robert E. Miller, a 23-year-old Norwalk tree trimmer, reportedly has been cleared up. Sheriff Alton T. Young said Robert's brother Peter, 28, has confessed killing the victim with a brick.

For a long time Robert was "missing."

The slaying took place, said the sheriff, on April 5 at Fries Landing on the Huron River. On April 11 Peter reported his brother missing. The body was found May 27 and identified later.

The sheriff quoted Peter as saying the brothers quarreled while on a fishing trip, partly over a girl.

No charges have been filed.

"There is no dispute about our being ahead today in airpower," Jackson said. "The controversy is how we will stack up in 1958, 1959 and 1960."

Jackson said the subcommittee wants Twining to "spell out what has been recommended for the Air Force to stay ahead of the Soviets in the next several years."

Twining said at Gettysburg the Soviets may have more jet aircraft than this country, but not more "modern" planes.

West Virginian Linked to Slaying

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (P)—Columbus police officers were en route here today to pick up Lovell Dowell, 26-year-old Bluefield man wanted for questioning in Columbus in connection with the knife slaying of his wife Clara, 19.

Police said Dowell walked into the police station here Thursday night and told them he had received a telephone call notifying him of his wife's death in Groveport near Columbus. He was arrested on a fugitive warrant.

Clara Dowell's body, stabbed 18 times, was found Thursday lying on the bed in her second floor apartment by an aunt who lived down the hall.

Getting Rhea To Help Emu Is Poor Idea

CLEVELAND (P)—The birds of the emu feather are flocking together today after a foster father frowned on his downy friends.

It all started with the Papa Emu—member of a bird family long a favorite with crossword puzzle fans—at the Cleveland Zoo.

He sat on one brood of eggs like a dutiful father but balked at a second load of family responsibility.

So the bird housekeepers recruited a rhea, a bird cousin, for the egg-warming job. He seemed unmindful of the fact the eggs were dark green instead of the pale yellow or rhea eggs.

But with one look at the black-and-white striped emu which emerged instead of gray rhea chicks, the foster father turned his back on the birds.

Then Papa Emu decided he could care for the whole blooming flock, nine of them.

Zoo director Fletcher Reynolds said it was probably the first time a rhea hatched an emu.

"And we'll never do it again," he said. "That rhea was so busy sitting on the other fellow's eggs, he didn't have time for romancing in his own paddock."

The News has a weekly circulation of 4,800, and its history dates back almost 92 years. Its publisher is Robert W. Reider, former Democratic state representative.

Mrs. Juel Reed Cover, a 44-year-old housewife who doubles in news and homemaking, will remain editor. She joined the News 18 months ago after 22 years of experience on the Fremont News-Messenger and the Port Clinton Herald, a competitor to the News.

Toledo Slayer Faces Execution

TOLEDO (P)—A three-judge court last night convicted Jon P. Bowens, 35, of first degree murder for shooting to death Deputy Sheriff Raymond Westover following a motel holdup last May 29.

The court made no recommendation of mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

Still to be tried in the getaway dash during which police said an 18-year-old girl was run down and killed, are Phillip Rowell, 24, Philadelphia, and Walter Bryant, 32, New York. They were companions of Bowens.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: It has been said that "self-pity is the last resort of cowards." If writing to you is to be construed as an act of cowardice—i.e., seeking advice in the form of sympathetic consideration—then so be it.

However, this piece of correspondence is unnecessary proof of cowardice on the writer's part, since his actions during the late war gave evidence enough.

If, as a result of one's inadequate service to one's country, one feels unworthy of living a full life, with marriage, children, etc., what does one do?

Prayer is out, as I have atheistic tendencies; but even so, due to early training, I have a vague feeling that there is a Power, over all. A cowardly uncertainty on my part, no doubt.

Suicide is too final (fearful) a possibility. Alcoholism is only cowardice intensified. Neurotic manifestations are also evasions of the problem. What I am looking for is some intelligent comment on the feeling of unworthiness, the fear of participating fully in life, the dread of being found out as a coward, from which I suffer.

It occurs to me that you are, by native endowment and predisposition, probably more sensitive, imaginative and perceptive in facing life (and taking stock of yourself) than is the average stolidly "brave" fellow—who isn't attuned to those finer nuances of awareness, of feeling and being, that agitate the souls of superior men.

But it seems evident that somewhere along the path of your formative years, you were put through the wringer of a demoralizing process. You got all mixed up, concerning your worth as a person, and lost sight of your rights to feel what you do actually feel—including great fear—when a distasteful course of action is enforced upon you.

My advice is to drop your preoccupation with cowardice as such, and tackle the job of finding good health—of body, mind and spirit. Join a church that affords pastoral counseling, and read "God's Reach" (Macalaster Park) by Glenn Clark—to learn how to attain divine guidance, in preparing yourself for a "full life."

M.H.

Mary Hawthorth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of this newspaper.

Bigger Houses Wanted National Survey Shows

Families of Fayette County are moving up in the housing scale, Charles S. Ault, president of the Tri-County Board of Realtors, said in a statement issued from his office in Wilmington.

Clinton and Highland Counties are the other two in the Tri-County Board.

A similar trend throughout the country was noted by Ault.

Supporting his statement, Ault cited findings of a nationwide real estate survey by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the Tri-County Board is a member, related facts from government agencies and recent experiences of realtors in the three county area here.

The NAREB survey, he said, covered prevailing conditions in 220 areas throughout the country and showed that tenants and purchasers alike, are seeking bigger houses and locations better suited to their family needs.

Home buyers, he said, "apparently are willing to postpone other purchases and assume substantial mortgage obligations to buy the home of their choice."

AULT QUOTED a report of the Federal Housing Administration to the effect that in 1955, for the first time since the FHA has been keeping records on the area of typical new houses on which it insures mortgage loans, the space provided topped 1,000 square feet. This compared with 838 square feet in 1950 with 924 square feet in 1953 and 961 square feet in 1954.

The typical house in 1955 was made up of 5½ rooms with three bedrooms, the FHA has said, noting that the three-bedroom house was also the most popular in 1954, although the 1955 house was slightly more spacious.

A similar report pointing out the upgrading of housing throughout the country was made jointly by the U. S. Departments of Commerce and Labor. Between 1954 and 1955, department spokesmen said, three - bedroom houses became much more popular as shown by the fact that houses in this category accounted for more than two-thirds of the total built.

Reporting that the median proposed price for new houses had increased from $12,300 in 1954 to $13,700 in 1955, the departments said that a major element in the rise was the larger size of the houses being built. Other elements in the higher prices were rises in land, development and construction costs.

The FHA said that the 1955 income of the typical new home buyer who used FHA financing was nearly $5,500, while the typical buyer of an existing home in 1955 had an income of approximately $5,700. The average purchaser of a home with a Veterans Administration loan guaranty in 1955 had a monthly income of $494.

The five - day convention, which will close July 12, will be held at the Connaught Hilton Hotel.

Do You Clean Up after Picnic?

Many a Fayette County family has had a good picnic or summer outing in recent days, when the car is reloaded with baskets and sleepy youngsters, how many stopped for a moment to consider the thought— "have we left the grounds clean? Has garbage and rubbish been put in cans with the lids tightly replaced?"

A last-minute inspection of this kind today was urged by Dr. Benton V. D. Scott, health commissioner of Fayette County, who pointed out that flies and rats, which carry disease, live on the refuse left lying out by those who have just enjoyed an outing.

In mentioning the importance of a clean-up following an outdoor meal Dr. Scott stated that it is well known that flies often carry the germs which cause "summer diarrhea," dysentery, and typhoid. The virus of polio has even been recovered from flies in the laboratory.

Rats, too, carry dangerous diseases, such as trichinosis, typhus and plague. Furthermore, they do untold damage to buildings and homes.

These pests often travel unbelievable distances for no apparent reason, Dr. Scott stated. "So, don't neglect to clean up your refuse simply because no houses are near," he urged.

"Besides," added Dr. Scott, "the next fellow deserves a clean, healthful picnic ground, too. Always be sure that you put your garbage and rubbish in cans with the lids on tight."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: It has been said that "self-pity is the last resort of cowards." If writing to you is to be construed as an act of cowardice—i.e., seeking advice in the form of sympathetic consideration—then so be it.

However, this piece of correspondence is unnecessary proof of cowardice on the writer's part, since his actions during the late war gave evidence enough.

If, as a result of one's inadequate service to one's country, one feels unworthy of living a full life, with marriage, children, etc., what does one do?

Prayer is out, as I have atheistic tendencies; but even so, due to early training, I have a vague feeling that there is a Power, over all. A cowardly uncertainty on my part, no doubt.

Suicide is too final (fearful) a possibility. Alcoholism is only cowardice intensified. Neurotic manifestations are also evasions of the problem. What I am looking for is some intelligent comment on the feeling of unworthiness, the fear of participating fully in life, the dread of being found out as a coward, from which I suffer.

M.N.

DEAR M.N.: Obviously you aren't as much of a coward as you think you are—or as you kick yourself for being. It takes courage of a rare sort to be honest with oneself, and others, about one's besetting sins (as one sees them), in search of deliverance. And you've been exercising that brand of heroism in baring your problem.

It occurs to me that you are, by native endowment and predisposition, probably more sensitive, imaginative and perceptive in facing life (and taking stock of yourself) than is the average stolidly "brave" fellow—who isn't attuned to those finer nuances of awareness, of feeling and being, that agitate the souls of superior men.

But it seems evident that somewhere along the path of your formative years, you were put through the wringer of a demoralizing process. You got all mixed up, concerning your worth as a person, and lost sight of your rights to feel what you do actually feel—including great fear—when a distasteful course of action is enforced upon you.

My advice is to drop your preoccupation with cowardice as such, and tackle the job of finding good health—of body, mind and spirit. Join a church that affords pastoral counseling, and read "God's Reach" (Macalaster Park) by Glenn Clark—to learn how to attain divine guidance, in preparing yourself for a "full life."

Interesting Thoughts of Vast Space Around Us

Doubtless most of our readers read or heard by radio or television in recent days, of sounds being heard by scientists in certain localities which they were pleased to interpret as coming from some other planet and were meant to be a signal to this earth of ours.

Naturally no one can speak with a n y authority as yet as to the truth of this but it has given quite a few scientists an opportunity to speak in an intriguing way; to insist that in the minds of leading astronomers Earth people are not alone in the universe with its present incomprehensible limits.

Our minds grasp the thought that somewhere among the millions of galaxies in their endless turning in the bewildering space about us—there must be some existing intelligent life.

Naturally this conclusion must be speculative but men like Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard are convinced the margin for speculation is extremely narrow. They believe it is a mathematical certainty that on earth - like planets within the gravitational influence of the one hundred million million million observable stars some kind of life may be found. Dr. Shapley writes in The Sunday Times of London, moreover, that "it is virtually inevitable that somewhere in the universe evolutionary processes have raised life forms beyond that of plants. There we must end with the simple, but weighty statement that there is no reason in the world to believe that our mental stature has not been excelled by sentient beings elsewhere."

This is stimulating to the average mind. It is especially so for philosophers and theologians. But Dr. Shapley also clears the way for the most imaginative of science-fiction writers — and for all who are convinced of the existence of flying saucers. For if man's mental stature has, in fact, been equalled or excelled, what limits can be placed on conjecture?

For many decades man has looked at the moon and wondered. With powerful magnifying glasses, scientists have studied its size and composition, and have speculated on how to reach it—also how to get back again.

It is pointed out that in the science of aviation, man has managed to leave the earth. He has flown upward to great distances, but in relationship to the distance of moon from earth, that's little more than leaving his own front yard. It is a gigantic problem, but there are those who say it can be done.

John J. Crowley, guided-missiles director in the Defense Department, predicts that in 20 to 25 years, this country will send a round-trip airship to the moon.

For all his shortcomings and weaknesses, man of this Earth is an ingenious creature. He is constantly improving on what he has, and maybe some day he will find a way to span formidable distances in space.

Planning a trip to the moon is a mighty undertaking—and a fascinating one. It will be a wondrous experience — being on earth to watch the plans unfold.

Twists From Pretzel Town

By Hal Boyle

LITITZ, Pa. (AP) — Lititz is known across the nation as "the pretzel town."

The community, deep in the Pennsylvania Dutch country where the first commercial pretzel in America was baked in 1851, is celebrating its 200th birthday.

Lititz, now a thriving agricultural and industrial center of more than 6,000 population, has had an unusual history. In its way it capsules the story of America.

It was founded in 1756 as a Moravian community, and for 99 years the church elders largely ruled its business as well as its social and spiritual life.

You couldn't borrow or lend money, board a stranger overnight, or even go into a new trade without permission of the congregation's all - powerful committee on temporal affairs.

Anyone who was caught in such "gross heathenish sins" as excessive drinking, wenching, gluttony, cursing, lying, cheating, stealing or quarreling and fighting was subject to prompt expulsion from the community.

Some of the early town regulations make interesting reading today. For example, this one:

"No dancing matches, taverning (except for the necessary entertainment of strangers and travelers). Beer - tappings at weddings, christenings or burials, common sports and past-times, nor the playing of the children in the streets, shall be so much as heard of amongst the inhabitants. They that have inclinations that way cannot live at Lititz."

Swimming and skating were also banned, because of possible injury to the souls of the pious. But human nature was still human nature even in those days, and the diaries of the church committee note many lapses from grace. Here are a few entries:

"Oct. 22, 1779. It was an unbearably stroke of business for Heinrich Rauch to charge two poor brethren 18 pounds for their trusses, which he made in half a day."

"Nov. 7, 1783. In our opinion Claus Collin charges too much for the coffins he makes; therefore it will be well to confer with him the matter."

"Nov. 1809. Members must see to it, as much as possible, that the smoking of cigars by children and youths is stopped, about which parents and masters were recently spoken with."

Modern youngsters, who start "going steady" in their teens, would have found the early regulations unbelievably strict.

There was no such thing as cohabitation. Single men and women were quartered in separate buildings. Marriage wasn't by choice; it was by lot.

When a man expressed a desire to marry, the elders decided which girls were eligible. The name of each was written on a piece of paper and inserted in a goose quill. The goose quills were placed in half a coconut shell. The bridegroom then reached in and selected a goose quill at random. The girl whose name it contained became his bride.

This custom died out after 1818 when John Beck, the schoolmaster, stoutly insisted on his right to pick his own bride and did.

Some oldtimers still insist that, by and large, the marriage by lot system didn't work out too badly.

"Marriage is a lottery any way you try it," one said, smiling, "and in the old days there weren't many divorces."

It's All in the Mood!

By George Sokolsky

Arthur Miller, the playwright, and new husband of Marilyn Monroe, announced before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, that any association he may have had with various Communist activities were responses to his mood of the moment.

The mood passed away slowly, not unlike Saul of Tarsus who saw a blinding flash on the road to Damascus, but slowly, and now the aforesaid Arthur Miller no longer has any associations with Communist activities. Therefore, as his mood has changed, he hopes the State Department will give him a passport to honeymoon in Europe with Marilyn Monroe which seems to be a delightful occupation for a comparatively young man.

Perhaps should Marilyn Monroe ever fade from Arthur Miller's life, his mood will change again and he may return to his associations with the Communists. It is all in the mood.

If Paris was worth a mass to Henry of Navarre, is not Marilyn Monroe worth a change of mood? Besides this in 1956 when the Italian, French and British Communists are wondering if Khrushchev has not faked Stalin's record and the "Daily Worker" publishes articles attacking Stalin similar to those which appeared in this column 20 years ago.

In such circumstances anyone can change his mood without much loss of character.

Miller makes a point that the artist, by which he means a playwright, must be treated differently from most other folks, because he is different, particularly as he always wants to advocate something. Now, that is a very good point and is the substance of what has been the anti-Communist effort, known to its opponents, as blacklisting.

The basis of that endeavor was to eliminate Communists and pro-Communist writers, directors and actors because of their advocacy of a cause which the others believe to be essentially evil. If an artist has the right to be a pro-Communist because he is an artist, then his opponent as an equal right to be anti-Communist and to advocate that cause.

The Fund for the Republic apparently disagrees with this point of view and takes the position that anybody should be permitted to advocate anything, even if the advocacy falls upon the ears of children who have not yet reached Khrushchev's maturity to know that Stalin was evil.

Only the pro-Communists, however, can make real use of this privilege, because of the anti-Communists oppose the pro-Communists, they are interfering with the latter's rights. Most motion picture and radio audiences consist of immature children who somehow have come to believe that what they see and hear must be the truth because they saw and heard it.

Miller's position apparently is that the playwright bears no responsibility for the damage to our country or our civilization that may be a product of his mood and his desire for advocacy. Yet it seems to me that he needs to add responsibility to his formula.

He makes the point that Dosztoevsky would have had a difficult time in these days, because of objections to him in the United States and Soviet Russia. If Dosztoevsky were a sincere man in his own, he would have welcomed the opposition, no matter how unpleasant or even brutal, because those who believe in their ideals do not fear torture or even death for them.

And fundamental beliefs are unrelated to effervescent moods; they are of the stuff that builds character.

There is this to say about Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, spies, traitors, evil people: They went to their deaths for what they believed to be true. They did not bargain with the State Department for a passport to a honeymoon. They did not bargain with the FBI for their lives.

It is all in the point of view. There are those who have been pro-Communist, pro-Russian, pro-Stalinist and who gained much thereby in moments when such relationships were profitable, and who now turn on their former associations with a vindictiveness that consistent anti-Communists never showed. Some change at great personal sacrifice. Maybe they are sincere: Maybe they are making a record. Maybe they do not want to be picked up should we ever go to war with Russia. Maybe they have discovered their errors.

Who can ever know what their motives are?

Don't Take Chances By Eating Raw Pork

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Trichinosis is probably one of the easiest diseases to prevent. Yet it's estimated that some 22,000,000 persons may have this strength-draining disease.

Trichinae are tiny worms, too small to be recognized by the naked eye, which infest the body's muscles. Acute trichinosis not only is very weakening, but also extremely painful. Sometimes it is fatal.

Uncooked Meat

Virtually all cases of trichinosis in the United States have been traced directly to uncooked pork or a pork product. A few cases have been traced to uncooked bear meat.

Swine acquire the worms by eating infected rodents or refuse. Hawaii, Canada and England require that all garbage must be cooked before it is fed to hogs.

Simple Rule

Cooking, you see, destroys both adults worms and the larvae. And that is the simple rule for preventing trichinosis.

Never eat raw or partially cooked pork. Be sure you buy good quality meat from your butcher.

Pink pork may be dangerous. Cook it thoroughly until it is gray throughout.

es, and foresight, you should gain extensively in the next year. Born under these auspices, a child may be very clever.

Some of you undoubtedly enjoy "cannibal sandwiches" of raw ground beef. If you plan to eat uncooked ground beef, I think it's a good idea to grind it yourself at home.

Trichinae aren't found in raw beef. However, your butcher's grinding machine might contain a small amount of ground pork from a previous sale and, inadvertently, you might get some of this mixed in with the beef. You don't want to take a chance of eating uncooked pork.

Another Way

Freezing raw pork is another way of killing the trichinae. Freezing it at zero degrees Fahrenheit and keeping it at this temperature for 72 hours will render it non-infective.

Most home freezers maintain temperatures ranging between zero to 5 above.

But don't eat raw pork no matter how long it's been frozen. Be safe. Cook it thoroughly.

Interesting Thoughts of Vast Space Around Us

Doubtless most of our readers read or heard by radio or television in recent days, of sounds being heard by scientists in certain localities which they were pleased to interpret as coming from some other planet and were meant to be a signal to this earth of ours.

Naturally no one can speak with a ny authority as yet as to the truth of this but it has given quite a few scientists an opportunity to speak in an intriguing way; to insist that in the minds of leading astronomers Earth people are not alone in the universe with its present incomprehensible limits.

Our minds grasp the thought that somewhere among the millions of galaxies in their endless turning in the bewildering space about us—there must be some existing intelligent life.

Naturally this conclusion must be speculative but men like Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard are convinced the margin for speculation is extremely narrow. They believe it is a mathematical certainty that on earth-like planets within the gravitational influence of the one hundred million million million observable stars some kind of life may be found. Dr. Shapley writes in The Sunday Times of London, moreover, that "it is virtually inevitable that somewhere in the universe evolutionary processes have raised life forms beyond that of plants. There we must end with the simple, but weighty statement that there is no reason in the world to believe that our mental stature has not been excelled by sentient beings elsewhere."

This is stimulating to the average mind. It is especially so for philosophers and theologians. But Dr. Shapley also clears the way for the most imaginative of science-fiction writers—and for all who are convinced of the existence of flying saucers. For if man's mental stature has, in fact, been equalled or excelled, what limits can be placed on conjecture?

For many decades man has looked at the moon and wondered. With powerful magnifying glasses, scientists have studied its size and composition, and have speculated on how to reach it—also how to get back again.

It is pointed out that in the science of aviation, man has managed to leave the earth. He has flown upward to great distances, but in relationship to the distance of moon from earth, that's little more than leaving his own front yard. It is a gigantic problem, but there are those who say it can be done.

John J. Crowley, guided-missiles director in the Defense Department, predicts that in 20 to 25 years, this country will send a round-trip airship to the moon.

For all his shortcomings and weaknesses, man of this Earth is an ingenious creature. He is constantly improving on what he has, and maybe some day he will find a way to span formidable distances in space.

Planning a trip to the moon is a mighty undertaking—and a fascinating one. It will be a wondrous experience—being on earth to watch the plans unfold.

Twists From Pretzel Town

By Hal Boyle

LITITZ, Pa. (P)—Lititz is known across the nation as "the pretzel town."

The community, deep in the Pennsylvania Dutch country where the first commercial pretzel in America was baked in 1861, is celebrating its 200th birthday.

Lititz, now a thriving agricultural and industrial center of more than 6,000 population, has had an unusual history. In its way it capsules the story of America.

It was founded in 1756 as a Moravian community, and for 99 years the church elders largely ruled its business as well as its social and spiritual life.

You couldn't borrow or lend money, board a stranger overnight, or even go into a new trade without permission of the congregation's all powerful committee on temporal affairs.

Anyone who was caught in such "gross heathenish sins" as excessive drinking, wenching, gluttony, cursing, lying, cheating, stealing or quarreling and fighting was subject to prompt expulsion from the community.

Some of the early town regulations make interesting reading today. For example, this one:

"No dancing matches, taverning (except for the necessary entertainment of strangers and travelers). Beer-tappings at weddings, christenings or burials, common sports and past-times, nor the playing of the children in the streets, shall be so much as heard of amongst the inhabitants. They that have inclinations that way cannot live at Lititz."

Swimming and skating were also banned, because of possible injury to the souls of the pious.

But human nature was still human nature even in those days, and the diaries of the church committee note many lapses from grace. Here are a few entries:

"Oct. 22, 1779. It was an unbearably stroke of business for Heinrich Rauch to charge two poor brethren 18 pounds for their trusses, which he made in half a day."

"Nov. 7, 1783. In our opinion Claus Collin charges too much for the coffins he makes; therefore it will be well to confer with him the matter."

"Nov. 1809. Members must see to it, as much as possible, that the smoking of cigars by children and youths is stopped, about which parents and masters were recently spoken with."

Modern youngsters, who start "going steady" in their teens, would have found the early regulations unbelievably strict.

There was no such thing as courtship. Single men and women were quartered in separate buildings. Marriage wasn't by choice; it was by lot.

When a man expressed a desire to marry, the elders decided which girls were eligible. The name of each was written on a piece of paper and inserted in a goose quill. The goose quills were placed in half a coconut shell. The bridegroom then reached in and selected a goose quill at random. The girl whose name it contained became his bride.

This custom died out after 1818 when John Beck, the schoolmaster, stoutly insisted on his right to pick his own bride and did.

Some oldtimers still insist that, by and large, the marriage by lot system didn't work out too badly.

"Marriage is a lottery any way you try it," one said, smiling, "and in the old days there weren't many divorces."

It's All in the Mood!

Arthur Miller, the playwright, and new husband of Marilyn Monroe, announced before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, that any associations he may have had with various Communist activities were responses to his mood of the moment.

The mood passed away slowly, not unlike Saul of Tarsus who saw a blinding flash on the road to Damascus, but slowly, and now the aforesaid Arthur Miller no longer has any associations with Communist activities. Therefore, as his mood has changed, he hopes the State Department will give him a passport to honeymoon in Europe with Marilyn Monroe which seems to be a delightful occupation for a comparatively young man.

Perhaps should Marilyn Monroe ever fade from Arthur Miller's life, his mood will change again and he may return to his associations with the Communists. It is all in the mood.

If Paris was worth a mass to Henry of Navarre, is not Marilyn Monroe worth a change of mood? Besides this in 1956 when the Italian, French and British Communists are wondering if Khrushchev has not faked Stalin's record and the "Daily Worker" publishes articles attacking Stalin similar to those which appeared in this column 20 years ago.

In such circumstances anyone can change his mood without much loss of character.

Miller makes a point that the artist, by which he means a playwright, must be treated differently from most other folks, because he is different, particularly as he always wants to advocate something. Now, that is a very good point and is the substance of what has been the anti-Communist effort, known to its opponents, as blacklisting.

The basis of that endeavor was to eliminate Communists and pro-Communist writers, directors and actors because of their advocacy of a cause which the others believe to be essentially evil. If an artist has the right to be a pro-Communist because he is an artist, then his opponent has an equal right to be anti-Communist and to advocate that cause.

The Fund for the Republic apparently disagrees with this point of view and takes the position that anybody should be permitted to advocate anything, even if the advocacy falls upon the ears of children who have not yet reached Khrushchev's maturity to know that Stalin was evil.

Only the pro-Communists, however, can make real use of this privilege, because of the anti-Communists oppose the pro-Communists, they are interfering with the latter's rights. Most motion picture and radio audiences consist of immature children who somehow have come to believe that what they see and hear must be the truth because they saw and heard it.

Miller's position apparently is that the playwright bears no responsibility for the damage to our country or our civilization that may be a product of his mood and his desire for advocacy. Yet it seems to me that he needs to add responsibility to his formula.

He makes the point that Dostoevsky would have had a difficult time in these days, because of objections to him in the United States and Soviet Russia. If Dostoevsky were a sincere man in our time as he undoubtedly was in his own, he would have welcomed the opposition, no matter how unpleasant or even brutal, because those who believe in their ideals do not fear torture or even death for them.

ius and Ethel Rosenberg, spies, traitors, evil people: They went to their deaths for what they believed to be true. They did not bargain with the State Department for a passport to a honeymoon. They did not bargain with the FBI for their lives.

It is all in the point of view. There are those who have been pro-Communist, pro-Russian, pro-Stalinist and who gained much thereby in moments when such relationships were profitable, and who now turn on their former associations with a vindictiveness that consistent anti-Communists never showed. Some change at great personal sacrifice. Maybe they are sincere: Maybe they are making a record. Maybe they do not want to be picked up should we ever go to war with Russia. Maybe they have discovered their errors.

Who can ever know what their motives are?

Don't Take Chances By Eating Raw Pork

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Trichinosis is probably one of the easiest diseases to prevent. Yet it's estimated that some 22,000,000 persons may have this strength-draining disease.

Trichinae are tiny worms, too small to be recognized by the naked eye, which infest the body's muscles. Acute trichinosis not only is very weakening, but also extremely painful. Sometimes it is fatal.

Uncooked Meat

Virtually all cases of trichinosis in the United States have been traced directly to uncooked pork or a pork product. A few cases have been traced to uncooked bear meat.

Swine acquire the worms by eating infected rodents or refuse. Hawaii, Canada and England require that all garbage must be cooked before it is fed to hogs.

Simple Rule

Cooking, you see, destroys both adults worms and the larvae. And that is the simple rule for preventing trichinosis.

Never eat raw or partially cooked pork. Be sure you buy good quality meat from your butcher.

Pink pork may be dangerous. Cook it thoroughly until it is gray throughout.

es, and foresight, you should gain extensively in the next year. Born under these auspices, a child may be very clever.

You Need The Church-The Church Needs You

Bless This House!

Hallowed walls, Sacred pews, Holy pulpit . . . Church of the living God!

Whether a tiny hovel or a magnificent Cathedral, it is a place of worship. GOD IS THERE. Something reverent and divine radiates about its steeple. It is a clarion to all mankind. Friend, the Church is where the Holy of Holies dwells. Here man's soul stands naked in the presence of God. You need for daily living, the inspiration and Divine help which awaits you in the public worship of your Church.

Bless This House!

Hallowed walls, Sacred pews, Holy pulpit . . . Church of the living God!

Whether a tiny hovel or a magnificent Cathedral, it is a place of worship. GOD IS THERE. Something reverent and divine radiates about its steeple. It is a clarion to all mankind. Friend, the Church is where the Holy of Holies dwells. Here man's soul stands naked in the presence of God. You need for daily living, the inspiration and Divine help which awaits you in the public worship of your Church.

Defense Department Chided For Intraservice Squabbling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today told the Defense Department today to quit intraservice "squabbling" over air defenses, commenting that "the taxpayer will be the principal loser in such a quarrel."

It directed the department to take "immediate steps" to have a committee of qualified independent experts evaluate the merits and potentialities of the Talos and Nike missiles as air defense weapons.

The Air Force has adopted a Navy-developed guided missile known as Talos; the Army calls its guided weapon Nike.

The review by the State Department demonstrates serious American concern over what diplomats refer to as the increasingly anti-Western and pro-Russian policies of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government.

The committee's impatience over what it called duplication of effort and money in building guided missile installations was expressed in a report recommending $1,555,535,425 in new appropriations for miscellaneous government agencies, the major bulk of it for military construction programs.

The committee also expressed dissatisfaction over the Defense Department's handling of the Distant Early Warning Line program.

IN JANUARY of this year, it said, the Navy Department ordered a change in the program involving relocations. There were delays in seeking contracts, the committee said, and the Navy finally decided to use cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts.

For the many projects financed in the bill, the committee recommended $332,685,900 more than the $1,222,849,525 President Eisenhower had requested. However, the increase was more than offset by specific and indefinite cancellations of previously allotted funds in excess of $365 million.

U. S. To Take Second Look At Egypt Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has decided to re-examine its offer to help Egypt build the world's biggest dam on the Nile River.

The loan-grant deal was proposed to Egypt last December.

The review by the State Department demonstrates serious American concern over what diplomats refer to as the increasingly anti-Western and pro-Russian policies of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government.

As evidence of its tougher attitude, the State Department has notified Egypt that foreign aid grants previously earmarked to help Egypt begin its $1.3 billion Aswan Dam project have now been reallocated to other foreign aid programs considered to be of higher priority.

No money will be available for Egypt until Congress approves the new multibillion-dollar foreign aid program still being shaped up, and even then, responsible informants said, no new allocation is to be made for the dam until the re-examination has been completed.

The United States joined with Britain last Dec. 16 in offering $70 million in grants to Egypt to help it begin its long-cherished hydro-electric-irrigation project. The World Bank at the same time pledged a $200 million loan. Britain and the United States also promised to consider sympathetically Egypt's need for an additional $130 million in foreign currency.

Junior Fair Queen And Escort To Be Chosen on Monday

Queen of the Fayette County Junior Fair and a queen's escort will be selected next Monday evening at the Farm Bureau Auditorium.

Candidates for queen and escort have been selected by committees from the Junior Fair Board.

Nominated for queen are Jo Ann Little, Marilyn Heistand, Jackie Hoppes, Jo Reiff, Carolyn Crago, Barbara Sue Kneisley and Joan Bonham.

Escort nominees are Gene Gustin, Bob Rife, Ronnie Sears, Alan Wilt, Roger Bonham, Bob Montgomery and Roger Sollars.

Some thought is being given now to selecting a queen and court for the Junior Fair and having the queen for the State Junior Fair on youth day, Aug. 24.

The queen must be selected on the basis of contribution to community life, personality and popularity. She must be between 16 and 20 years old and a member of the 4-H or the Future Homemakers of America.

This will be the second queen competition held in the county. Last year's champ was Sally Reiff, who is now attending Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware.

Sales Tax Near All Time Record

Many Counties Show Drop However

Three out of the seven counties in this immediate area showed in 1955 over the same week last year in the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending June 23, as disclosed by the weekly summary announced by the treasurer of state.

Clinton, Madison and Pickaway Counties showed increases, while Fayette, Greene, Highland and Ross Counties showed decreases.

Fayette's sales were $6,426.86 compared with $11,841.83 a year ago.

Reports here indicate that the next report will show Fayette's sales far over those of a year ago for the same time.

In the state as a whole total collections for the recent week were $4,446,679 from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending June 23, practically a stand-off with last year's record collections of $4,470,625 for the corresponding week ended June 25, 1955.

The actual amount was $23,946 or .51 per cent below the weekly collection a year ago. With collections for the final seven days of the current fiscal year yet to be summarized, however, the total revenues from the statewide sales of prepaid tax receipts alone already have exceeded the $200 million mark.

On an over-all basis which includes prepaid tax receipts, use tax and other collections from the beginning of the current fiscal year last July 1, the grand total collections stood at $222,415,179 as of June 23, for the first fifty-one weeks of fiscal 1956.

This amount, State Treasurer Tracy said, is $22,705,243, or 11.37 per cent, in excess of the grand total revenues of $199,709,936 which were reported on June 25, 1955, for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Plenty of Talent Counted In Ohio Golf Entry List

MANSFIELD, Ohio (P)—One of the most talented fields in history goes after the 50th Ohio Amateur Golf championship here next week.

Among the 175 paying $15 each for a fling at the golden anniversary crown are at least five former champions, two public links titleholders, the national intercollegiate king, and two winners of the state junior laurels.

Dave Daniels of Columbus, winner of the state public links crown last year at Barberton Brookside, has swung over to a private club membership this season. He will not be in the public links contingent of 24, and will not be permitted to defend his course championship Aug. 9-11 at Toledo's Spuyten Duyvil club.

Bob Rankin of Zanesville will defend his state amateur laurels over the hilly WestbrookCountry Club course here, with 18-hole qualifying rounds scheduled Monday and Tuesday to name 64 to the match play bracket.

The man-to-man combat runs through Saturday, when the 36-hole finals will be played. Last year Rankin, playing over his home course at Zanesville, came from behind to nip Jack Zimmerman of Dayton, two-time public links champion, for the title. Zimmerman is among this year's entrants.

Two-time victor Johnny Florio of Columbus, Eddie Preisler of Cleveland, Tom Jones Jr., of Youngstown, and Francis Card of Columbus are other former amateur champions in the fold. Also on hand will be Youngstown's sensational Rick Jones, who just last week won the national collegiate title, Robert Ross of Springfield, the state junior titlist the last two years, and Bob Roll of Greenville, also a victor in the junior.

The public links contingent invited to appear in the annual classic sponsored by the Ohio Golf Assn., made up of private clubs, includes Ed Koski and Dave Patton of Steubenville.

Entries close at noon Saturday, said OGA Secretary Bill Margraf of Columbus.

Poor Fishing Seen Ahead For Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—The Ohio division of Wildlife today forecast poor fishing conditions for the weekend. Heavy rains are responsible for the gloomy outlook, the division said.

The sectional outlook: Northwest—Most streams fair to poor. Best fishing will be found in Lake St. Marys, East Harbor and Oxbow Lake.

Northeast—Stream fishing generally poor. Best fishing will be found in a number of lakes including Pleasant Hill, Charles Mill, Berlin, Milton, Clearfork and Deer Creek.

East Central and Southeast—Best fishing should be found in a number of lakes including Atwood, Leesville, Burr Oak, parts of Buckeye, Hope and Alma.

Central and South—Stream conditions generally poor. Best fishing will be found in Delaware Reservoir, Rocky Fork, Jackson Lake and parts of Buckeye.

Southwest—Lakes and streams generally fair to good with most lakes being slightly roily, but still providing good fishing.

Steamin Demon Equals Hilliards Pacing Record

COLUMBUS (P)—Steamin Demon, driven by Eddie Boyer, last night equalled the 20-year-old Hilliard Raceway track pace record for the mile in winning the first half of the $1,500 Invitational mile race in 2:04.

He came right back to capture the seventh race, the second half of the Invitational, in 2:04.4.

Steamin Demon is owned by George VanCamp of Circleville.

The Demon's victory was more than just another win for VanCamp. Among the top-rated pacers pitted against the Circleville was a hometown foe, Jerry H., owned by Clarence Helvering and driven by Forrest Short, both of the Old Roundtown.

There had been some ohs and ahs when VanCamp entered his Demon against the likes of Jerry H. "He's going well out of his class," was the comment. Not so, said the summary of the race.

Doug Gillen, Minnesota University first baseman, hit seven home runs this season for a new Big Ten record.

Finals Nearing At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (P)—Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla., the fifth-seeded player, eliminated defending champion Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif. yesterday 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, in the big upset of the Wimbledon Women's Singles Championship. Miss Fry will meet Britain's Angela Buxton in the final tomorrow.

Miss Fry's startling victory came just after Lew Hoad, top-seeded in men's singles, had whipped Ham Richardson of Westfield, N. J., 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4, to set

Ridgeway Cops Tourney Opener

ST. PARIS (P)—The National Baseball Congress Ohio tournament got off to a record-breaking start last night when Ridgeway downed DeGraff 5 to 3 in a 12-inning, 3 1/2-hour opening game.

It was the longest contest in Ohio tournament history and ironman Clayton Stevens pitched all 12 innings for the victors.

Stevens struck out 19 for a record in that department.

up an All-Australian final against second-seeded Ken Rosewall.

Yankees, Redlegs Bid for Records.

NEW YORK (P)—With the season less than half over, the Cincinnati Redlegs and New York Yankees are more than halfway home in their bids to break the major league home run record.

The Redlegs have walloped 111 in 72 games and the Yanks 103 in

75. The standards are 221 homers by the Giants in the National and 182 by the Yankees in the American.

Laurel was the first major race track in Maryland to present turf racing.

Indians Flop As Tigers End Losing Streak

DETROIT (P)—"You get used to a lot of things after 29 years of it," said Bucky Harris. "But I haven't figured out yet how to get used to losing."

The 59-year-old manager, who started his big league managing career long before many of his Detroit Tiger players were born, was reflecting in the clubhouse yesterday after his club ended its prolonged home victory drought.

A 13-7 thumping of the third-place Cleveland Indians halted the Tigers' Briggs Stadium winless streak at 15.

Every Tiger hit safely against a parade of five Indian pitchers, with Bob Lemon being shell ed from the mound by five straight hits and six runs in the second inning.

The Tigers buttoned up their victory with a five-run rally in the third inning when Harvey Kuenn smashed a three-run home run off Cal McLish. Frank Lary singled home the other two.

Lary, who hadn't finished a game since June 1, limited the Indians to five hits.

The Tigers have won only 10 games at home this season while dropping 27. On the road they have played 600 ball.

"Don't ask me to explain it," said Harris. "I'd like to know the answer myself. They've looked like two different ball clubs. I don't want this to sound like an alibi for myself or an excuse for the team. Maybe they're not as good as we thought they were."

Tri-State Tennis Meet Continuing

CINCINNATI (P)—Play got down to the quarter finals in men's and women's singles in the annual Tri-State Tennis tournament today.

Another seeded player fell by the wayside yesterday is unrated John Lesch, 21-year-old UCLA student, provided the second upset in as many days. He ousted eighth seeded Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., in the men's singles.

Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., seeded first in the tournament, meets Panch Contreras of Los Angeles today.

Winger Pacing Canadian Open

POINTE CLAIRE, Que. (P)—Bo Winger of Oklahoma City was the man to catch today as the field started the second round of the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

Virtually ignored in pre-tournament selections, the 33-year-old Sooner fired a record-quelling 65 over the par 72 Beaconsfield course yesterday to take the first round lead by two strokes.

Tied at 67 for second were Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio; Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass., and Art Wall Jr. of Elmsford, N. Y.

Entries close at noon Saturday, said OGA Secretary Bill Margraf of Columbus.

Own Stadium Proving Jinx For Milwaukee

Braves Lead League While on Road, Fall Flat on Home Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Their own County Stadium, of all places, is fast becoming a "jinx" park for the Milwaukee Braves, who take over the National League lead on the road, then fall flat at home.

The Braves lost their grasp on first place again Thursday night in a 7-1 defeat by the Chicago Cubs. It was the 12th defeat in their last 18 games at home where they have only a 14-14 season mark and shoved the Milwaukee three percentage points behind the Cincinnati Redlegs, who were idle.

In their last home stand, the Braves lost 10 of 15 and tumbled from first to fifth before catching fire with an 11-game winning streak on the road. Now they've lost two of three on the current home stand.

An even worse home record came to an end in the American League as the Detroit Tigers—who had gone through 15 games without a victory at Briggs Stadium—laid the wood to Cleveland and Bob Lemon to win 13-7 and put the third place Indians 5½ games behind first place New York.

The Yankees, with Gil McDougald hanging in four runs with a homer, double and single, defeated Boston 6-1 in a scheduled day-night doubleheader that saw the nightcap postponed by rain. It was the only other game scheduled in the AL, and pushed the Yanks' lead to four games over the Chicago.

The sixth-place Cubs, who have taken six of their last nine, including three of four from the Braves, socked Milwaukee and Ray Crone with five runs after two were out in the seventh inning. Eddie Miksis' eighth homer started the uprising as six straight hits snapped a 1-1 tie. Don Hoak and Doc Fanday each had RBI doubles in the big frame while Gene Baker sliced a two-run single.

Vito Valentini, making his first major league start, and Jim Brosnan four — hit the Braves. Brosnan won his second with one hit ball over 4-1-3 relief innings, coming on when Valentini injured his knee covering home plate on a wild pitch that scored the Milwaukee run.

McDougald's three-run shot in the third off loser Bob Porterfield iced it for the Yankees as Whitey Ford won his 10th with a seven-hitter. It was his third straight over the Red Sox.

Detroit's Frank Lary was tagged for a first-inning bases-loaded home run by Jim Busby and a three-run shot by Al Rosen in the sixth, but he gave up only three other hits and coasted in as the Tigers rocked Lemon to his sixth defeat with 11 runs in the first three frames. Harvey Kuenn poked a three-run homer and Lary singled two home in a five-run third inning.

Jimmy Demaret picked Cary Middlecoff to win this year's U.S. Open golf title after the first 36 holes of the 72-hole grand. "Cary should win the way he's playing," said Demaret. Middlecoff won with 281.

The Record-Herald sports editor, who has a habit of playing ring around the water cooler with the secretaries, came back to his desk the other morning and was greeted with a terrible shock.

It seems that Fenton, the Record-Herald's genie, was sitting at the guy's desk and chewing on his lunch.

Cubs Win 2 Games In Seven Innings

Here's nice work if you can get it: The Sunshine Cubs won two baseball games in only seven innings of Little League Play at Wilson Field Thursday evening.

And here's some that's not so nice: The Mac Dews Realtors lost two games in the same number of innings.

It seems that back on June 15 the two teams played six innings to a tie, and they had to settle it some way. So they started the seventh game in the beginning of the seventh. The Cubs won in the bottom of the seventh, so they started the regularly scheduled game. The Cubs won that one in six more innings.

Final score of the June 15 game was 4-3. Larry Swackhamer clobbered the Cubs into victory with a long double that drove in two runs.

Cubs won the second game, 12-3. Swackhamer and Ben Garringer picked up home runs to help towards the victory in that one. Swackhamer, Johnny McLean and Gary Kimball each picked up three runs towards the victory in that one.

watching a vastly overcrowded field and he decided to look elsewhere for a sports career.

His powers as a prophet sent him to baseball—a field sadly in need of good prophets—and led him to the Record-Herald. The Record-Herald will never be the same again. But at least, the paper gets from Fenton every week a complete list of predictions in the South Western Ohio Baseball League.

Heaven only knows what good they are, but they don't cost the paper a thing—except for an occasional chaw on the sports editor's lunch.

Here are Fenton's predictions for this week:

Good Hope will beat Bainbridge at Good Hope.

Milledgeville will beat Jeffersonville at Jeff.

Wilmington will lose to Hillsboro at Hillsboro.

The Chillicothe Reformatory will beat the Chillicothe Businessmen at the Reformatory.

Blanchester will beat the Chillicothe All-Stars at Chillicothe.

Samarkand will beat Baghdad in an exhibition jihad at Bierute. (No one knows what this has to do with it, but Fenton insisted on throwing it in.)

Mrs. Willard McLean Takes Golf Honors

Mrs. Willard McLean came through with a 51 for the best score of the ladies day golfing at the Country Club this week. Next in line were Mrs. Charles Buxton with 54 and a three-way tie by Mrs. Mary Gillespie, Mrs. Wayne Shobe and Mrs. Marvin Roszmann, all with 57s.

Mrs. Roszmann and Mrs. Gillespie also tied for putting honors with 12 apiece. Mrs. James Martin was next with 15 strokes on the nine greens.

Mrs. McLean also had the low net score of 39. Mrs. Mary Gillespie had 41 and Mrs. Buxton with 44 each.

Mrs. Howard Harper had the best poker hand on her score card.

The blind bogey went to Mrs. Neil Helfrich and Mrs. Bud Schlue.

Miss Kathleen Davis was hostess for the event which was held this week on Thursday because Wednesday, the regular day for it, came on the Fourth of July.

Next week, ladies day will be back on the Wednesday schedule.

The golfers gathered in the clubhouse for luncheon after a morning of golf.

Girton's Nine Puts Medics on Ice, 21-2

Girton's Babe Ruth League nine froze out Medics baseball squad 21-2, in Babe Ruth play at the city park Thursday evening.

The Frozen Food team scored its victory on 14 hits in 43 trips to the plate. The game was called after only six full innings of play as darkness set in.

Pete Evans, Larry Milstead, Duane Callender and Carthy each scored three runs for the winning team's cause.

At the same time, it was announced that Girton's has been awarded the victory in the disputed Frozen Food-Bloomingburg game of June 28.

The Bloomingburg game was called off in the middle of the sixth inning, with Bloomingburg in the lead. However, official rules state that the team in the lead at the end of the last completed inning shall be awarded the victory. Since Girton's lead at the end of the fifth, the game was given to it.

Winless Jeff Lions Upset Seals, 7 to 2

The Jeffersonville Lions, who had not won a game, stopped the 4-game win streak of the Seals with a 7 to 2 defeat in their Babe Ruth League game at Jeffers onville Thursday evening.

The Lions came through with their upset by scoring in all but the first and last innings. The Seals got one run in the second to tie the score, but could not tally again until the last frame.

Wilt, who held the Lions to 9 hits in six innings, fanned five but gave up six bases on balls. Although Striblin, who traded his place at third base with Wilt, was nicked for 3 hits in the last inning, he managed to hold the Lions scoreless by striking out two in the pinches.

Cook, who went the route for the Lions, held the hard hitting Seals to seven safeties. He fanned 10 and issued only one base on balls.

Sharp fielding marked the game, despite the 3 errors chalked up against each team.

Big Bill Uhl Hurt in Crash

Big Bill Uhl, 7-foot All-American basketball center for the University of Dayton, where he was graduated last June, is in "fair condition" in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, after being injured in a head-on automobile collision on Dayton Tuesday night.

Members of his family said he had suffered cuts and bruises, but appears to be recovering satisfactorily.

Uhl has many friends here and, when he was a gangling growing boy in high school, played with the Tigers against the WHS Lions. At that time, followers of the sport predicted he would some day be outstanding in basketball.

The accident occurred at a curve on a highway between suburban Kittering and Dayton. The driver of the other car was identified as Howard J. Farris, 23, Kettering, who was cited for driving the left of center. He also was hospitalized for an ankle fracture and cuts.

Uhl has entered the insurance business in Dayton. He has been drafted by Rochester of the National Basketball League.

Own Stadium Proving Jinx For Milwaukee

Braves Lead League While on Road, Fall Flat on Home Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Their own County Stadium, of all places, is fast becoming a "jinx" park for the Milwaukee Braves, who take over the National League lead on the road, then fall flat at home.

The Braves lost their grasp on first place again Thursday night in a 7-1 defeat by the Chicago Cubs. It was the 12th defeat in their last 18 games at home where they have only a 14-14 season mark and shoved the Milwaukeees three percentage points behind the Cincinnati Redlegs, who were idle.

In their last home stand, the Braves lost 10 of 15 and tumbled from first to fifth before catching fire with an 11-game winning streak on the road. Now they've lost two of three on the current home stand.

An even worse home record came to an end in the American League as the Detroit Tigers—who had gone through 15 games without a victory at Briggs Stadium—laid the wood to Cleveland and Bob Lemon to win 13-7 and put the third place Indians 5½ games behind first place New York.

The Yankees, with Gil McDougald banging in four runs with a homer, double and single, defeated Boston 6-1 in a scheduled day-night doubleheader that saw the nightcap postponed by rain. It was the only other game scheduled in the AL, and pushed the Yanks' lead to four games over idle Chicago.

The sixth-place Cubs, who have taken six of their last nine, including three of four from the Braves, socked Milwaukee and Ray Crone with five runs after two were out in the seventh inning. Eddie Miksis' eighth homer started the uprising as six straight hits snapped a 1-1 tie. Don Hoak and Dee Fondy each had RBI doubles in the big frame while Gene Baker sliced a two-run single.

Vito Valentini, making his first major league start, and Jim Brosnan four—hit the Braves. Brosnan won his second with one-hit ball over 4-1-3 relief innings, coming on when Valentini injured his knee covering home plate on a wild pitch that scored the Milwaukee run.

Harvey Kuenn poked a three-run homer and Lary singled two home in a five-run third inning.

Jimmy Demaret picked Cary Middlecoff to win this year's U. S. Open golf title after the first 36 holes of the 72-hole grind. "Cary should win the way he's playing," said Demaret. Middlecoff won with 281.

It was the second loss in three starts for the Rockets and the third straight victory for Pennington crew.

It takes the hides of more than 11,000 horses each year to furnish baseballs used in the major leagues.

Mrs. Willard McLean came through with a 51 for the best score of the ladies day golfing at the Country Club this week. Next in line were Mrs. Charles Buxton with 54 and a three-way tie by Mrs. Mary Gillespie, Mrs. Wayne Shobe and Mrs. Marvin Roszmann, all with 57s.

Mrs. Roszmann and Mrs. Gillespie also tied for putting honors with 12 apiece. Mrs. James Martin was next with 13 strokes on the nine greens.

Mrs. McLean also had the low net score of 39. Mrs. Mary Gillespie had 41 and Mrs. Buxton and Mrs. Dwight Coffman tied with 44 each.

Mrs. Howard Harper had the best poker hand on her score card. The blind bogey went to Mrs. Neil Helfrich and Mrs. Bud Schlue.

Miss Kathleen Davis was hostess for the event which was held this week on Thursday because Wednesday, the regular day for it, came on the Fourth of July.

Next week, ladies day will be back on the Wednesday schedule.

The golfers gathered in the club house for luncheon after a morning of golf.

Girtor's Nine Puts Medics on Ice, 21-2

Girtor's Babe Ruth League nine froze out Medics baseball squad 21-2, in Babe Ruth play at the city park Thursday evening.

The Frozen Food team scored its victory on 14 hits in 43 trips to the plate. The game was called after only six full innings of play as darkness set in.

Duane Callender, Larry Milstead, Pete Evans and Ronnie Carter each scored three runs for the winning team's cause.

At the same time, it was announced that Girtor's has been awarded the victory in the disputed Frozen Food-Bloomington game of June 28.

The Bloomington game was called off in the middle of the sixth inning, with Bloomington in the lead. However, official rules state that the team in the lead at the end of the last completed inning shall be awarded the victory. Since Girtor's lead at the end of the fifth, the game was given to it.

Winless Jeff Lions Upset Seals, 7 to 2

The Jeffersonville Lions, who had not won a game, stopped the 4-game win streak of the Seals with a 7 to 2 defeat in their Babe Ruth League game at Jeffersonville Thursday evening.

The Lions came through with their upset by scoring in all but the first and last innings. The Seals got one run in the second to tie the score, but could not tally again until the last frame.

Wilt, who held the Lions to 9 hits in six innings, fanned five but gave up six bases on balls. Although Striblin, who traded his place at third base with Wilt, was nicked for 3 hits in the last inning, he managed to hold the Lions scoreless by striking out two in the pinches.

Cook, who went the route for the Lions, held the hard hitting Seals to seven safeties. He fanned 10 and issued only one base on balls.

Sharp fielding marked the game, despite the 3 errors chalked up against each team.

Mantle To Wear Brace on Leg

Big Bill Uhl Hurt in Crash

Big Bill Uhl, 7-foot All-American basketball center for the University of Dayton, where he was graduated last June, is in "fair condition" in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, after being injured in a head-on automobile collision in Dayton Tuesday night.

Members of his family said he had suffered cuts and bruises, but appears to be recovering satisfactorily.

Uhl has many friends here and, when he was a gangling growing boy in high school, played with the Tigers against the WHS Lions. At that time, followers of the sport predicted he would some day be outstanding in basketball.

The accident occurred at a curve on a highway between suburban Kittering and Dayton. The driver of the other car was identified as Howard J. Farris, 23, Kettering, who was cited for driving the left of center. He also was hospitalized for an ankle fracture and cuts.

Uhl has entered the insurance business in Dayton. He has been drafted by Rochester of the National Basketball League.

Lopes Is Favorite In Garden Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—The Friday night summer boxing schedule at Madison Square Gardens brings out two lightweight bouts tonight when Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif. and Paolo Rosi of Rieti, Italy meet in the 10-round main event.

Only a few hundred fans are expected in the flesh but the bout will be carried on network radio and television at 9 p. m.

Lopes is an 8 to 5 favorite.

determine whether he will start in Tuesday's All-Star Game.

The blond, 24-year-old lenter left fielder, bidding to break Babe Ruth's record season total of 60 home runs, had an X-ray examination here last night. It revealed sprained ligaments.

Jap Scientists Claim U. S. Fires 'Super Uranium' Bomb

TOKYO (U)—Japan's Meteorological Research Institute claimed today the United States exploded a "super uranium bomb" June 13 in the Pacific testing grounds.

The Institute said it based its report on an analysis of radio-active rain which fell between June 21 and June 23 in Tokyo.

"There is no mistake that a super uranium bomb was tested," the Institute said in a statement. "The date was June 13."

The Japanese Weather Bureau and other Japanese sources previously have reported that nuclear test explosions apparently took place in the Bikini area on May 28, June 26 and last Monday. The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has refused to confirm or deny that tests were made on those dates.

The Meteorological Research Institute's statement described a "super uranium bomb" as "greatly superior in explosive power."

Japanese sources said the super uranium bomb appeared to be a standard A-bomb with a wrap-around shell of cheap, ordinary Uranium 238.

They hinted there might be some new way of making much of this ordinary U-238 explode to boost the power or the radio-activity from the A-bomb itself. U-238 does not split spontaneously, as does U-235 or plutonium, either of which can be the explosive heart of an A-bomb.

An outer jacket of U-238 is reportedly used to make super H-bombs. An A-bomb is the trigger for the regular H-bomb, which fuses hydrogen atoms.

Houses For Sale 50

DO YOU NEED A ROOMY HOME?

We hate to sell this home of ours but due to illness we must move into a smaller one floor home.

There are three huge bedrooms upstairs; one room decorated for nursery or small child's room.

Jap Scientists Claim U. S. Fires 'Super Uranium' Bomb

TOKYO (U.P.)—Japan's Meteorological Research Institute claimed today the United States exploded a "super uranium bomb" June 13 in the Pacific testing grounds.

The Institute said it based its report on an analysis of radio-active rain which fell between June 21 and June 23 in Tokyo.

"There is no mistake that a super uranium bomb was tested," the Institute said in a statement. "The date was June 13."

The Japanese Weather Bureau and other Japanese sources previously have reported that nuclear test explosions apparently took place in the Bikini area on May 28, June 26 and last Monday. The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has refused to confirm or deny that tests were made on those dates.

The Meteorological Research Institute's statement described a "super uranium bomb" as "greatly superior in explosive power."

Japanese sources said the super uranium bomb appeared to be a standard A-bomb with a wrap-around shell of cheap, ordinary Uranium 238.

They hinted there might be some new way of making much of this ordinary U-238 explode to boost the power or the radio-activity from the A-bomb itself. U-238 does not split spontaneously, as does U-235 or plutonium, either of which can be the explosive heart of an A-bomb.

An outer jacket of U-238 is reportedly used to make super H-bombs. An A-bomb is the trigger for the regular H-bomb, which fuses hydrogen atoms.

Boys Attack Guards, Fail In Escape Try

CHILLICOTHE (P)—Three youths who attacked their federal guards yesterday are in custody at the federal reformatory here.

Warden Walter Jacquot said the cases of the three, all of whom are already federal prisoners, will be turned over to the FBI for possible further prosecution.

Jacquot said the two guards who were bringing the prisoners from Knoxville, Tenn., to Chillicothe and Detroit, were released from Chillicothe Hospital after being treated for head cuts.

He identified the men as Deputy Federal Marshal John Sikorski and guard Victor Gwiklinski, both of Cleveland.

The teen-agers are Kenneth Thomas Kransman 19, Brian Kevin Connolly 17, and Raymond Flemming 15.

Jacquot said the group was in an automobile on Ohio 41 near Locust Grove, Adams County, about 55 miles southwest of Chillicothe, when the attack occurred.

Apparently at a pre-arranged signal, Jacquot said, the youths, who were in the rear seat, rose up and brought their handcuffs down on the heads of their guards.

The warden said Sikorski, who was driving, veered the car off the side of the road against a fence and the guards subdued the youths.

Along with two other girls, Miss Galvin was exploring the theatre when she fell 30 feet into the auditorium seats. She was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Miss Galvin was in the cast which was rehearsing for a play.

NEA Planning Renewed Fight For School Aid

PORTLAND, Ore. (P)—Smarting at defeat of federal school building aid, the National Education Assn. girded today for a fresh attempt to gain passage of the bill in the next Congress.

The NEA entered the final day of its convention here with the prospect of a floor fight over one proposed resolution on a discrimination issue, but another bearing on school segregation apparently had been sidetracked.

Federal school construction aid, defeated in the House yesterday, has for years been a top NEA objective.

James L. McCaskill, director of the NEA legislative division, its lobbying arm, expressed disappointment at defeat of the measure at a time when it seemed the closest it has ever been to passage, but said the NEA would "move quickly" on it in the new Congress next January.

A vociferous attempt by a group, mostly from the South and border states, to substitute a sharply worded school desegregation resolution for the Resolution Committee's version apparently has been dropped for this convention.

The substitute proposal bore down on what the group said was a growing threat of dismissal for teachers who push desegregation.

School Calendar Given Approval

Classes To Start Sept. 5, End May 29

A calendar of special events for the coming school year was approved by the Washington C. H. School Board at its special meeting Thursday night.

All told the nearly 2,300 boys and girls will be in school 176 days. The calendar was made out for both the elementary and high schools.

Schools will open Wednesday Sept. 5, according to the calendar, and will let out Wednesday, May 29. Commencement next spring will be May 23.

A general teachers' meeting is scheduled for Sept. 4, to get the school year off to a flying start.

First break in the school calendar will be a break for youngsters but not for teachers. A meeting of the Central Ohio Teachers Assn., has been set for Friday, Oct. 26. Youngsters will have the day as a holiday, but it will be just another working day for the instructors.

TEACHERS and pupils alike will have time out to do a little turkey-eating at Thanksgiving, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 22 and 23, have been set aside for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The big mid-year Christmas holiday is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m. Friday, Dec. 21. Youngsters won't be due back in school until Thursday, Jan. 3.

A one-day holiday is scheduled for Feb. 22, Washington's Birthday.

Spring vacation begins Friday, April 19, according to the calendar and ends Tuesday, April 23.

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday, May 19. Commencement will be the next Thursday and school will be all over again on May 29.

Mother Bears Twin Girls Without Aid

SAN JOSE, Calif. (P)—Alone and without help, Mrs. Betty Jordan, 25, gave birth to twin daughters last night in her home.

"When you have to do something, you do it," Mrs. Jordan remarked a short time later to a policeman responding to her telephone call for aid.

Mrs. Jordan explained she asked for aid only because one of the babies seemed to have trouble breathing. A physician later said the infant was all right.

Mrs. Jordan said her husband is a serviceman in North Africa. She said she hadn't heard from him in some time and declined to give his name.

She reported the births took place "very quickly" in her bathroom. When Crabbe and police arrived, Mrs. Jordan sat in a black house coat on a sofa beside her babies, wrapped in a blanket.

She told a physician she didn't want to go to the hospital, and he said, "She doesn't want to go and there's no reason to send her."

But the babies were taken to O'Connor Hospital Nursery.

Solon Assists Woman With Big Water Bill

AKRON (P)—When Mrs. Grace Burton, 41, got a $192 quarterly water bill, she thought it was a bit high.

But, by using money she had saved for real estate taxes on her rooming house and borrowing $50 from a friend, she paid the bill. Then she went on relief to get food for herself and her two children, one and 15.

Councilman Bill Denning heard about it and took up the matter with Water Superintendent Wendell LaDue. He learned that a meter reader reported Mrs. Burton had a broken meter at the time 770,000 gallons of water was charged against her. The city, however, had gone ahead and billed her for the full amount.

Explained LaDue: "It's the home owners' responsibility to report their meters and have them fixed."

However, Councilman Denning's insistence brought Mrs. Burton a $163 refund. The water department kept $25 as her usual quarterly payment plus $4 for repairing the meter.

Boys Attack Guards, Fail In Escape Try

CHILLICOTHE (P)—Three youths who attacked their federal guards yesterday are in custody at the federal reformatory here.

Warden Walter Jacquot said the cases of the three, all of whom are already federal prisoners, will be turned over to the FBI for possible further prosecution.

Jacquot said the two guards who were bringing the prisoners from Knoxville, Tenn., to Chillicothe and Detroit, were released from Chillicothe Hospital after being treated for head cuts.

He identified the men as Deputy Federal Marshal John Sikorski and guard Victor Gwiklinski, both of Cleveland.

The teen-agers are Kenneth Thomas Kransman 19, Brian Kevin Connolly 17, and Raymond Flemming 15.

Jacquot said the group was in an automobile on Ohio 41 near Locust Grove, Adams County, about 55 miles southwest of Chillicothe, when the attack occurred. Apparently at a pre-arranged signal, Jacquot said, the youths, who were in the rear seat, rose up and brought their handcuffs down on the heads of their guards.

The warden said Sikorski, who was driving, veered the car off the side of the road against a fence and the guards subdued the youths.

NEA Planning Renewed Fight For School Aid

PORTLAND, Ore. (P)—Smarting at defeat of federal school building aid, the National Education Assn. girded today for a fresh attempt to gain passage of the bill in the next Congress.

The NEA entered the final day of its convention here with the prospect of a floor fight over one proposed resolution on a discrimination issue, but another bearing on school segregation apparently had been sidetracked.

Federal school construction aid, defeated in the House yesterday, has for years been a top NEA objective.

James L. McCaskill, director of the NEA legislative division, its lobbying arm, expressed disappointment at defeat of the measure at a time when it seemed the closest it has ever been to passage, but said the NEA would "move quickly" on it in the next Congress next January.

A vociferous attempt by a group, mostly from the South and border states, to substitute a sharply worded school desegregation resolution for the Resolution Committee's version apparently has been dropped for this convention.

The substitute proposal bore down on what the group said was a growing threat of dismissal for teachers who push desegregation.

School Calendar Given Approval

Classes To Start Sept. 5, End May 29

A calendar of special events for the coming school year was approved by the Washington C. H. School Board at its special meeting Thursday night.

All told the nearly 2,300 boys and girls will be in school 176 days. The calendar was made out for both the elementary and high schools.

Schools will open Wednesday Sept. 5, according to the calendar, and will let out Wednesday, May 29. Commencement next spring will be May 23.

A general teachers' meeting is scheduled for Sept. 4, to get the school year off to a flying start.

First break in the school calendar will be a break for youngsters but not for teachers. A meeting of the Central Ohio Teachers' Assn., has been set for Friday, Oct. 26. Youngsters will have the day as a holiday, but it will be just another working day for the instructors.

TEACHERS and pupils alike will have time out to do a little turkey-eating at Thanksgiving, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 22 and 23, have been set aside for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The big mid-year Christmas holiday is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m. Friday, Dec. 21. Youngsters won't be due back in school until Thursday, Jan. 3.

A one-day holiday is scheduled for Feb. 22, Washington's Birthday.

Mother Bears Twin Girls Without Aid

SAN JOSE, Calif. (P)—Alone and without help, Mrs. Betty Jordan, 25, gave birth to twin daughters last night in her home.

"When you have to do something, you do it," Mrs. Jordan remarked a short time later to a policeman responding to her telephone call for aid.

Mrs. Jordan explained she asked for aid only because one of the babies seemed to have trouble breathing. A physician later said the infant was all right.

Mrs. Jordan said her husband is a serviceman in North Africa. She said she hadn't heard from him in some time and declined to give his name.

She reported the births took place "very quickly" in her bathroom. When Crabbe and police arrived, Mrs. Jordan sat in a black house coat on a sofa beside her babies, wrapped in a blanket.

She told a physician she didn't want to go to the hospital, and he said, "She doesn't want to go and there's no reason to send her." But the babies were taken to O'Connor Hospital Nursery.

Solon Assists Woman With Big Water Bill

AKRON (P)—When Mrs. Grace Burton, 41, got a $192 quarterly water bill, she thought it was a bit high.

But, by using money she had saved for real estate taxes on her rooming house and borrowing $50 from a friend, she paid the bill. Then she went on relief to get food for herself and her two children, one and 15.

Councilman Bill Denning heard about it and took up the matter with Water Superintendent Wendell LaDue. He learned that a meter reader reported Mrs. Burton had a broken meter at the time 770,000 gallons of water was charged against her. The city, however, had gone ahead and billed her for the full amount.

Explained LaDue: "It's the home owners' responsibility to report their meters and have them fixed."

However, Councilman Denning's insistence brought Mrs. Burton a $163 refund. The water department kept $25 as her usual quarterly payment plus $4 for repairing the meter.
